Reported to the Senior Staff Meeting on the results of the 2nd Session of the 84th Congress. The Director also talked on the same subject, indicating that he felt that by and large this had been a most successful session insofar as CIA was concerned. He did make special reference to the statement of congressional intent that we should make every effort to house all headquarters personnel in a $46 million building. He stated that he intended to go into the personnel problem thoroughly, and see if it is not possible to effect substantial reductions.
